

Guatemala Mini Mission

September 14, 2025 — September 17, 2025

Starting at: $800

OVERVIEW

The Need

Despite its breathtaking beauty, Guatemala's environment is highly vulnerable to natural disasters that deeply affect the health and wellbeing of its communities. The people of Antigua, in particular, continue to recover from the devastating 2018 volcanic eruptions that displaced families and blanketed villages in ash. Guatemala is also prone to earthquakes, adding to the challenges faced by its population.

Preventable diseases such as diarrhea, pneumonia, cholera, and tuberculosis remain leading causes of death, while malnutrition—especially among children—contributes significantly to high mortality rates. In fact, Guatemala experiences approximately 22.1 deaths per 1,000 live births, a number that underscores the urgent need for improved healthcare access and education.

International Medical Relief (IMR) is the largest single provider of medical and dental missions in Guatemala. As a premier partner in 89 communities throughout the country, IMR is committed to helping Guatemala achieve global health security by enhancing access to quality healthcare services. Rapid and effective responses to public health threats are essential for preventing disease outbreaks and promoting lasting community well-being.

By joining the IMR team, you will work hand-in-hand with local communities to elevate health outcomes throughout Guatemala. IMR deploys volunteer brigades to remote and underserved areas where access to quality medical care is scarce. Our mobile clinics provide vital services to children, women, families, elders, and other vulnerable populations.

Together with your fellow volunteers, you will educate community members on maintaining good health and caring for their loved ones. You'll treat a broad range of acute and chronic conditions including dengue fever, hepatitis, malaria, pneumonia, and digestive illnesses.

IMR's key focus on this mission is acute medical and dental care and community health training. Your efforts with IMR will help build healthier, stronger communities and bring lasting hope to the people of Guatemala.

Our Work

International Medical Relief began working in Guatemala in early January 2018 and quickly responded to the Volcán de Fuego eruption in June of that year, providing critical disaster relief during a time of urgent need. Since then, IMR has remained committed to preventive efforts by delivering community health training, medical treatments, essential supplies and equipment, and ongoing sustainable clinic operations—serving tens of thousands of patients with the support of our dedicated medical and non-medical volunteer professionals.

As the premier global leader in medical missions, IMR is dedicated to ensuring that each mission aligns with specific objectives in support of the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals—namely UNSDG 3: Good Health and Well-being, UNSDG 8: Decent Work and Economic Growth, and UNSDG 17: Partnerships for the Goals.

In alignment with UNSDG 3, IMR works to elevate vulnerable populations through shoulder-to-shoulder care with our local partners, helping to improve individual and community health while building a strong pipeline of future healthcare and public health leaders.

In support of UNSDG 8, IMR actively contributes to local workforce development by creating training opportunities and strengthening the skillsets of our staff through year round engagement opportunities. IMR is committed to enhancing economic stability in the regions we serve by hiring and training local community members, professionals and students in meaningful, skilled roles. We provide fair compensation, ongoing skills development, and opportunities that foster economic resilience locally. As staff members grow in experience, IMR invests in their advancement—promoting staff into higher-level leadership roles within clinic operations and offering a path toward long-term job security and professional growth.

Aligned with UNSDG 17, IMR operates exclusively through formal invitations and strong partnerships with local stakeholders. We work under the guidance and leadership of our host communities, ensuring that our efforts are sustainable, culturally respectful, and deeply aligned with local health priorities.

This Mission

Joining a medical mission to Guatemala with International Medical Relief (IMR) is a powerful and meaningful way to contribute to global health outreach and enhance healthcare in Guatemala. This unique opportunity allows you to contribute to sustainable health programs while providing compassionate care in underserved communities. IMR's Guatemala medical missions are built on three foundational pillars: acute medical care, acute dental care, and community health education and training—delivered by teams of passionate non-medical volunteers as well as nurses, dentists, and doctors without borders and barriers to hinder their commitment to providing greater access to healthcare.

IMR operates mobile medical clinics across thousands of communities, offering healthcare services throughout Guatemala's remote regions where medical infrastructure is limited. These comprehensive, multi-disciplinary clinics are designed to reach underserved populations with essential care. Through IMR's international medical corps, volunteers provide medical screenings, treat acute conditions, educate families on preventive care, and connect patients with chronic conditions to NGO health clinic partners in Guatemala for long-term support.

Whether you're a medical student volunteering in Guatemala, participating in a nursing volunteer trip to Guatemala, or engaging in volunteer travel in Latin America, IMR provides a platform for meaningful travel to Guatemala that fosters personal growth and social impact. IMR's presence helps strengthen the local health system, builds trust, and promotes community resilience from ongoing long-term medical solutions to disaster relief volunteering in Guatemala. As part of the larger ecosystem, IMR's global brigades contribute to a healthier, more connected world.

Lodging/Transportation

The team will be staying in a beautiful, safe, clean, and comfortable accommodation located in this wonderful city. You will be able to enjoy the local food, music, and an array of shops nearby. Tour the Chocolate Museum, where you will learn how to make chocolate from the bean! Everything is within walking distance, and the city is full of color, wonderful smells, and amazing food. The culture of Guatemala will come alive as you explore the city after clinic and during your day off.

Accommodations are double, triple, or quad occupancy based on group size. Single supplement is available, on a first-come basis.

Upon your arrival in Antigua, all transportation to clinic has been arranged for you. Professional drivers, safe vehicles, and security are some of the many reasons to join IMR on a trip. Don't nap – there's a lot to see in the valleys and hills surrounding your home away from home this week!

Highlights

IMR's greatest highlight in Guatemala is family engagement, both from our volunteers and the communities that come to the clinics; family is the true highlight of this trip! Whether with the IMR Family you meet on the trip, Your Family that you bring along and share this experience with, or the Patient Families in every community that you care for along the way, everyone wants you to help keep their children healthy and their elderly loved ones comfortable. You will be a part of many families!

You will have a free day to explore Antigua with its quaint cobblestone streets and colorful colonial architecture. Salsa dancing on your list? Try it out! Always wanted to hike a volcano? Do it here! Always wanted to be a chocolatier? Visit the famous chocolate factory! Enjoy your day – make it your own!

When you join the International Medical Relief (IMR) team on our mission to improve the quality of life for the incredible people in Guatemala, you will spend most of your trip around La Antigua, a city identified as a UNESCO World Heritage Site. Known for its rich culture, colonial history, vibrant colors, and mix of baroque colonial architecture, La Antigua is one of Guatemala's most fascinating destinations. Mountains, active and dormant volcanoes, and an abundance of green foliage frame the city.

While in La Antigua, you will wake to the songs of local birds, the smell of fresh bread baking in traditional ovens, and be surrounded by three incredible volcanoes. Known for its rich culture, colonial history, vibrant colors, and mix of baroque colonial architecture, La Antigua is one of Guatemala's most fascinating destinations. Mountains, active and dormant volcanoes, and an abundance of green foliage frame the city. Walking through the main town square still offers a once-in-a-lifetime experience.

Arrivals & Optional Training Day

All volunteers will fly into La Aurora International Airport (GUA) in Guatemala City and should plan to arrive no later than 2:00 PM CST. From there, you'll travel about 45 minutes to the breathtaking, Colonial city of Antigua — your home base for the week. To make your journey seamless, we highly encourage you to book your travel with Worldwide Navigators, IMR's trusted travel partner. Their experienced team understands your mission itinerary and is ready to support you every step of the way. Reach them directly at travel@worldwidenavigators.com for personalized assistance. If you've selected Airport Transfer through your portal, you'll be greeted upon arrival and transported directly to your team lodging. If you've chosen to arrange your own transportation, be sure to arrive in Antigua by 4:00 PM, when your team will gather for dinner and an important orientation to kick off your impactful week of service. You'll be staying in a quaint hotel nestled in the heart of Antigua — a city full of charm, cobblestone streets, and historic beauty that offers the perfect place to reflect and recharge after meaningful days in clinic. Get ready for an incredible experience — we can't wait to see the difference you'll make!

Clinic

Your first full day on the ground begins with a vibrant and nourishing buffet of fresh fruit and traditional Guatemalan breakfast specialties—a perfect way to fuel up for the impactful day ahead. As the sun rises over Antigua's cobblestone streets and cool mountain air, you'll join your team for an early morning of connection and preparation. Together, you'll travel 30 minutes to 1.5 hours outside the city to reach the communities in greatest need, where you'll set up and operate today's medical clinic offering critical care and health education. Lunch will be brought to you onsite to ensure you can remain focused on serving patients throughout the day. After clinic, you'll regroup for a meaningful team debrief with your team leader, reflecting on the day's work, sharing experiences, and preparing for what's ahead. While all meals are included at your accommodation, you're also welcome to explore Antigua's charming restaurants on your own or with fellow volunteers and experience the local cuisine and culture that make Guatemala unforgettable.

Clinic

Let's Day - Best Day! Today marks your final day of clinic—a powerful culmination of your service, compassion, and teamwork. After enjoying a hearty Guatemalan breakfast with your team, you'll set out once more to deliver care to communities that have welcomed you with open arms. With each patient you see, you'll be wrapping up a week of hope, healing, and meaningful connection. Savor every moment—from triage to treatment to the heartfelt thank-yous from those whose lives you've touched. Lunch will be served on site to keep the momentum going as you make the most of your final clinic hours. As the day winds down, you'll begin to pack up the clinic and say farewell to the community—leaving behind not only improved health but also the lasting impact of kindness and global unity. In the evening, you'll return to Antigua for a special final team debrief. This will be a time to reflect, share stories, and celebrate the incredible difference you've made. As always, dinner is provided at your accommodations, but many teams choose to enjoy one last night on the town together—honoring the friendships forged, the lives changed, and the unforgettable memories created on this mission.
