OVERVIEW

The Need

Our Work

International Medical Relief (IMR) actively contributes to the United Nations Sustainable Development Goals (UNSDGs) by addressing key health and well-being challenges in underserved communities around the world. IMR works to elevate vulnerable populations through shoulder-to-shoulder care with our local partners, creating workforce density and fostering a cadre of future healthcare and public health leaders

Our missions align closely with UNSDG Goal 3—Good Health and Well-Being—by providing critical medical, dental, and mental health services to those in need, while also delivering health education and preventive care to create lasting change. IMR's efforts to reduce maternal and child mortality, improve access to essential medicines, and promote health equity further strengthen the achievement of these goals.

Our medical mission teams also work toward UNSDG 6: Clean Water & Sanitation by supporting and strengthening the participation of local communities in improving water quality. IMR assists with the installation of water filtration systems to provide clean drinking water and offers education on hydration and hygiene, contributing to the long-term health and sustainability of these communities.

In correlation with UNSDG 17: Partnerships for the Goals, IMR works in collaboration with and at the request of local hosts, operating under their direct guidance and support. IMR only enters a country when formally invited and where there is a significant community need for medical or dental care, as well as health education. By aligning with these specific goals, IMR ensures that our missions not only address immediate needs but also foster long-term health and resilience within the communities we serve.

This Mission

International Medical Relief (IMR) is dedicated to creating sustainable healthcare solutions in underserved communities around the world. Through our medical missions, we work hand-in-hand with local partners to provide not only immediate medical care but also lasting health education, training, and capacity building. By collaborating closely with local healthcare providers and institutions, we aim to leave a lasting impact by empowering communities with the skills and knowledge they need to manage their own healthcare long-term. Our teams focus on delivering sustainable support through education and training, ensuring that our efforts contribute to a stronger, more resilient healthcare infrastructure.

In response to the medical challenges, International Medical Relief is mobilizing medical professionals to provide critical healthcare services, including medical, dental, and mental health support. IMR's mission is to bridge the gaps in care by offering not only immediate medical attention but also sustainable health education to empower these communities in managing their health long-term. Your expertise in delivering much-needed care could play a pivotal role in addressing these urgent healthcare needs and improving health outcomes for the people of Belize.

Through this collaborative, shoulder-to-shoulder approach, IMR and its partners are helping to build a healthier future for communities in need, advancing global health one mission at a time.

Lodging/Transportation

On this IMR Clinical Trip, you and your fellow team members will be staying at a 2-star accommodation with safe, clean, comfortable rooms. The lodging is simple, basic, safe, comfortable, and affordable.

All transportation to and from the clinic has been arranged for you. Professional drivers, safe vehicles, and security are some of the many reasons to join IMR on a trip. Don't nap – there's a lot to see in the valleys and hills surrounding your home away from home this week!

Highlights

From the moment you arrive in Belize, the people and culture make you feel welcome and comfortable like no place you've ever visited. The natural beauty of the country and the inviting culture of the Belizean people are the highlights for this mission!

A unique aspect of Belize is the fact that its undeveloped areas have allowed for nature to live on in a way that draws biologists and environmentalists. With a laid-back ambiance of swinging hammocks, large swaths of impenetrable jungle, and an underwater world of twisted corals, neon fish, and gentle manatees, Belize is a tropical treasure.

Belize is home to many different ethnic groups, including Creole, East Indian, Mayan, and Mestizo, each with its own cultural and linguistic traditions. As a result, many languages are spoken here, but English is the official language. Belizeans of all cultures broadly welcome visitors as they are warmly greeted with large smiles.

When you're not exploring the natural beauty of Belize, be sure to experience the local cuisine. Famous dishes from the local Garifuna people include a cassava bread called ereba and various rice dishes. Many of our volunteers find that the best part of their mission is the chance to experience some of the different cultures of Belize. With countless opportunities to do so, this will be a trip you never forget.

Arrivals & Optional Training Day

You need to fly into Philip S.W. Goldson International Airport and arrive by 2:00pm. You will transfer to your accommodation to check in, then join the team for orientation. You may also choose to arrive early to participate in our training day where you and the team will provide training for local healthcare providers to continue IMR's long-term, sustainable education efforts. Education is as important as medical and dental care for our patients. Each clinic includes basic health education according to the specialties and skills of the IMR volunteers, as well as the needs of the local people. When communities become empowered to take health and wellness issues into their own hands, they become self-sufficient. IMR provides learning opportunities for the local communities through classes and hands-on learning to sustain their well-being beyond our visit.

Clinic

After enjoying a group breakfast full of native, Belizean flavors, your team will transfer to the location for your clinic days ahead. Clinics begin in the morning and run into the evenings. Your days will be long and hard, but also incredibly rewarding. After the clinic, regroup with your team at your lodging facility for a clinical debrief and team dinner. Although all your meals are all included, you are welcome to go into town with your fellow team members to enjoy the excellent cuisine that Belize has to offer.

Friday, July 24, 2026

Clinic

Your clinic venues are small, rural health centers. You will be joined by local physicians, nurses, and pharmacists who can consult on difficult cases or on those who need a higher level of care. Some of the more common diseases in this area include malaria, Chikungunya, dengue fever, and TB. Other chronic conditions you may see include diabetes, cardiovascular disease, cancers, and chronic respiratory diseases.
